NEGATIVE EXPERIENCES

10 not being physically gifted at sports

lead to my interest in the Arts

14 found sports/activities I enjoyed

16-17 followed a trend of chauvinism and stretching to an all-male sphere

A highly privileged position re: jobs, child rearing, altered a non diverse identity by my gender position.

Positive experiences

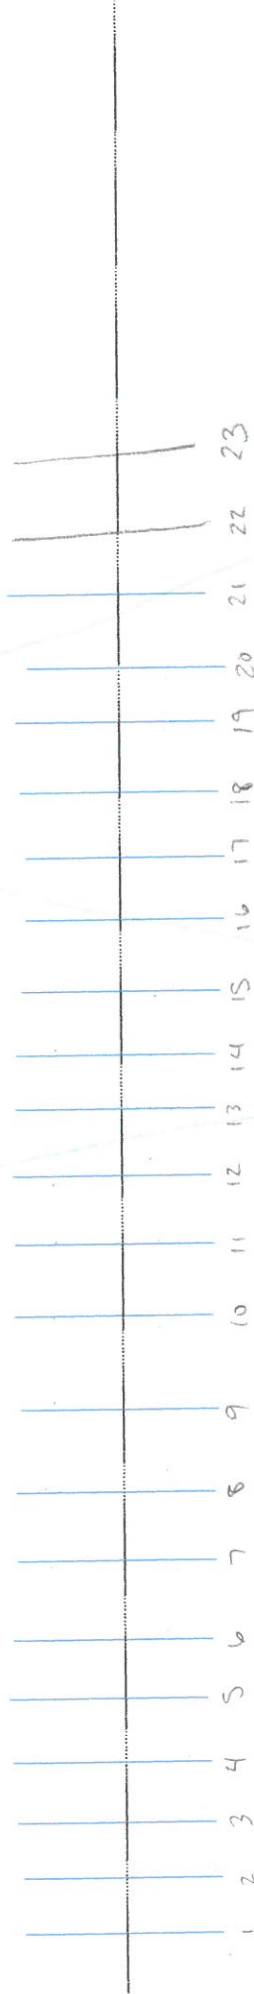

Extreme

gender

I started being STEM related with STEM activities & I realized science jobs didn't have the stereotypical male

I took 1st place in Biology the state in a girl's, and competition - as a female in a field to be a woman in science.

I had girls coming back asking me about STEM and didn't have any more STEM related jobs.

Family members have begun questioning me about when I'm going to get married & have kids - I'm not "fulfilled" unless I'm a mother

I got bothered a lot and felt very unsafe walking home from school

Religion / Sexuality
Catholic straight

POSITIVE EXPERIENCES

- First crush
- First holy communion
- "were the world mine" - a move about a gay teenager with magical powers to turn everyone around him gay. This name made me realize that it doesn't matter what sexuality someone is, just the importance of their heart. Having many friends and family that are gay, it made me love them more because there's absolutely nothing wrong with that.
- Seeing my closest gay friends get married.
- Kairos - a spiritual retreat done in high school very self reflective experience that I'm closest / connected to my religion

NEGATIVE EXPERIENCES

- Other kids were homophobic and thought I was weird for having gay friends.
- People calling me a crazy Catholic because I didn't feel like participating in certain activities - even so not wanting to drink and do drugs.
- Feeling that as I'm growing up, I feel less connected to my faith and wanting to practice it less and less and feeling like I shouldn't be a part of the faith because I don't feel like I belong.
